Our Story

In 1973, Vic Skolnick and Charlotte Sky began the New Community Cinema-which would become the Cinema Arts Centre-in a friend's dance studio with a 16mm film projector borrowed from the public library. Responding to a profound lack of artistic, independent, and international cinema on Long Island, Skolnick and Sky had a vision of engaging people in cinema culture, creating a new community of film-goers on Long Island who sought access to a broader choice of films in their community. Membership began as a simple request for film-goers to pay one dollar to help rent the next week's film. From such a beginning, a cultural movement was formed, nearly 11,000 members strong.

The Cinema helped to define our area as a cultural destination and is a critical part of not only our cultural landscape, but our economic ecosystem, generating nearly $7,000,000 in local spending annually.

Currently led by Co-Director Charlotte Sky and Dylan Skolnick, the mission of the Cinema Arts Centre is to bring the best in cinematic artistry to Long Island, and use the power of film to expand the awareness and consciousness of our community.
