WHAT IS DEMOCRACY?

This documentary examines the philosophy behind the concept of Democracy, from ancient Athens to modern Greece & the American Civil Rights movement.

Coming at a moment of profound political and social crisis, What Is Democracy? reflects on a word we too often take for granted. Director Astra Taylor’s idiosyncratic, philosophical journey spans millennia and continents: from ancient Athens’ groundbreaking experiment in self-government to capitalism’s roots in medieval Italy; from modern-day Greece grappling with financial collapse and a mounting refugee crisis to the United States reckoning with its racist past and the growing gap between rich and poor. Featuring a diverse cast—including celebrated theorists, trauma surgeons, activists, factory workers, asylum seekers, and former prime ministers—this urgent film connects the past and the present, the emotional and the intellectual, the personal and the political, in order to provoke and inspire. If we want to live in democracy, we must first ask what the word even means.

Amid the adventures and kids’ games, the signs of armed conflict start to appear in the lives of the inhabitants of ‘La Pradera’.

Elsa is an aspiring art historian. As she gently scrapes away at the ceiling of a chapel, long-hidden angels gradually surface into the light of day. Soon, another form of reality emerges from the shadows to cast a very different kind of light. Elsa’s husband, Michele, a partner in a shipping firm, abruptly informs her that he has been fired and they have to sell their beautiful apartment. Both of them set out to find work, but inevitably, husband and wife react to their new circumstances in quite different ways. When they move into a smaller and cheaper apartment, the schisms in their marriage begin to show.

In 2008, 37-year-old Ecuadorian immigrant Marcelo Lucero was murdered in Patchogue by teenage boys cruising the streets’ “beaner-hopping,” a term used to describe the ritual of attacking Latinos for sport. 17-year-old Jeffery Conroy was sentenced to 25-years behind bars, while the others got 5 to 8 years. Everyone said the problem was solved. Through honest interviews with family members on both sides, Jeffrey Conroy and the others teens raises the question: Were the teens deputized by the forces within their community to commit such a senseless act? Deputized explores the crime from a variety of perspectives, probing the lives of the victim, the boys and the socio-political conditions that brought them together.

The near beating to death of two young Latino migrant workers in Farmingville, Long Island, spotlighted the plight of both the immigrant workers and the small, stable middle-class community of 15,000, two groups who suddenly found themselves pitted against each other. Carlos Sandoval and Catherine Tambini’s even-handed documentary film, Farmingville, explores the emotional conflict between the residents in search of survival who crowd into their small town. For nearly a year, Sandoval and Tambini lived in Farmingville to capture the voices of the people who live there.

_Paris 1930. Paul always had only one and the same horizon: the high walls of the orphanage, a severe building on the outskirts of Paris. Entrusted to a cheerful lady of the countryside, Celestine and her husband, Borel, the somewhat rigid gamekeeper of a vast estate in Sologne, the child of the cities, recalcitrant and stubborn, arrives in a mysterious and worrying world, that of a sovereign and wild region. The immense forest, the misty ponds, the moors and the fields, everything here belongs to the Count of the Comte de La Salle. Fresnaye, a taciturn widower who lives alone in his mansion. The Count tolerates poachers on the estate, but Borel is relentlessly hunting them down and hounding the most cunning and elusive of them, Totoche. In the heart of the fairytale Sologne, next to the poacher, a great nature lover, Paul will learn about life but also the forest and its secrets. An even heavier secret weighs on the estate, because Paul did not come here by chance._

_School of Babel_ shines a light on the newest arrivals to an exceptionally diverse city, paying close attention to the formidable challenges they face._

What neither woman recognizes is the immense strength of the bond between Malu and Jorgito. When the children learn that Malu’s mother is planning to leave Cuba, they decide to travel to the other side of the island to find Malu’s father and persuade him against signing the forms that would allow it.
